

Contextual Safeguarding Training

SUMMARY

Training supports practitioners to apply the theory of Contextual Safeguarding within their own work

DESCRIPTION

Contextual Safeguarding training supports practitioners and organisations to understand the theory of Contextual Safeguarding and how this applies to practice. Contextual Safeguarding training should be tailored to individual agencies and their needs, supporting them to reflect on practice and develop their own contextual interventions. Contextual Safeguarding training could include:

- Theory and background of Contextual Safeguarding
- Extra-familial harm and peer on peer abuse
- Child protection system challenges
- Case study and practice example
- Legislation and relevant policy
- Tools and resources
